

Want to join us on a journey beyond the ordinary? - Klarna is looking for Analysts with a technical mindset.

Trying to purchase something is still far from a perfect experience, especially online. Not only are you taken through a tedious sign-up process, you're also expected to trust the merchant and pay them before you even get to look at the merchandise. No wonder that only 9% of total commerce is done online: it's just not easy enough. Klarna is looking to solve all that.

Klarna lets customers pay only after getting their product, while guarding merchants from risk – making purchases simpler and safer for everyone while growing sales for merchants. A fantastic product and a hard working team were the reasons why we won 'runners up' in the 2011 Crunchies Awards for Best International Startup.

We are Klarna's Risk Management team; we deploy state of the art methodologies and tools (forensics, pattern recognition, network analysis, advanced statistics and even Theory of Constraints) to deliver the decisions that make Klarna's business model possible. We're looking for analysts to join the team.

This is where you come in:

Decision analysts at Klarna are motivated, strong achievers who specialize in using our methodology and tools to prevent payments fraud, predict credit worthiness and stop abusive customers. They work individually and in a group to identify patterns in user behavior data and turn these patterns into accept and reject decisions, delivered both manually and automatically. This is an entry level position with excellent prospects for getting into data analysis, risk management and automated decisions. If these areas sound interesting, you should apply.

If you are our dream candidate, you probably:

- Can absorb vast quantities of information in short periods of time.
- Believe that the devil is in the details
- Enjoy to work under pressure in a high pace operational environment
- You want to invent and improve models, not just use them
- Aspire to be the best in everything that you do

Some formalities:

- This is a full time position in either Sweden (Stockholm) or Israel (Tel Aviv), with preference for Stockholm.
- Fluent English is a must. Additional languages are a plus (in Israel, Hebrew is highly desired).
- Bachelors' graduates preferable, but all (= high school students to PhDs) may apply.
- Some technical skills or background (doesn't have to be formal) will push you to the front of the line. Please don't refer to proficiency with Office as "technical skills". Rather refer to e.g. SQL, web-programming or interface design.

You want to...

*... work at one of Sweden's fastest growing companies where only you set the limits.
... be given the opportunity to influence a rapidly growing organization in an international market.
... have a workplace filled with the energy, entrepreneurial spirit and job satisfaction.*

We want...

... you to invest in us as much as we invest in you. You should not work for Klarna, you will work with Klarna.

Are you ready for the challenge?

Send your resume, cover letter and your grades to us as soon as possible. Gather your attachments in one pdf. Selection and interviews will be held continuously.
